

Ap art pieces

Jasmine Malouf

Written portion of portfolio

Sometimes I wonder how some people would look as the opposite gender so I decided to do my pieces based off that. I wanted the person I was painting to be show with themselves as the opposite gender to show the similarities and differences they have. These pieces helped give me more of an idea of what features are more masculine or feminine features. My main goal with this portfolio was to have them look similar enough to each other that they could be mistaken for siblings. I also wanted to show the persons personality by painting flowers that suited them or painting shape designs that matched their aesthetic.

“Hair Flare”

Size:1387 x 2088px

Medium: digital

NFS

This is by far my favorite piece. When starting this piece I aimed for a grunge look and I feel like I succeeded. For the background I used the wave pen in procreate choosing colors that I thought would look unique together, that would complement the red and yellow in the skin.

“Ambrosia swirl”

Size: 1703x2351px

Medium: digital

NFS

In this piece I drew people like they are melting. I gave this piece a sort god goddess vibe drawing the bust of the people as if their a melting statue. I wanted this piece to look like some kind of hallucination. Using mixing swirls of yellow and black together traveling around the piece to give the piece movement.

“Double edged chain”

Size: 10”13”

Medium: acrylic

$230

I painted this piece on a wood canvas using acrylic paints and posca pens. I used a lot of purples and nice warm colors to complement each other. I also put down a nice thin blue glaze for the background so you could still see the texture of the wood canvas.

“Ewwwww”

Size:(boy) 2048 x 2048

(girl) 2048 x 2048

Medium: digital

NFS

This is a self portrait of my self. I tend to paint myself crying anytime I draw myself. I like to think that I draw myself this way to show my empathetic side .i used a slightly Greyish blue for the background. Like most of my pieces I made the eyes a lot bigger than they usually would be

“Kaleidoscope”

Size:17”27”

Medium: prisma colors, posca pens.

$50

In this piece I based the girl off of my friend emma liston and went off from there. She has really pretty wavy hair that made me want to draw a abstract line pattern design blob thing (I don't know what to call it) in the background. I wanted the design to look crazy but something you could look at without feeling too overwhelmed. I based the colors off of a oil spill to make a fabulous goddess..

“Daizing daisies”
Size:42”27”
Medium: Acrylic
$550

For this painting I painted my best friend Emma. I painted this aiming for a sort of retro design. I painted the background yellow and blue to complement the slight yellow and blue tints that are shown in their clothes.

“Popping poppies”

Size:42”42”

Medium:acrylic

$500

In this piece I painted my best friend George crouching wearing court jester makeup based off his favorite band The Gardens. Sense he draws a lot of skeletons I drew him wearing a neon top with black bone shapes on the sleeve. I also drew his hands to look more skeleton like.

“My sun flower part 2”
Size:42”27”
Medium: acrylic paint,
and glitter (Mr. Peterson’s favorite)
$550

My first year of being in an art studio I painted my boyfriend James. I painted him with sunflowers surrounding him with a gold background. I repainted this piece to see how I have improved. And I think I improved tremendously. (I accidentally made his feet humongous)
The original painting----->

“Not George”

Size: 1668 x 2224px

Medium: digital

$30

This piece is what started off my portfolio idea of a sort of gender swap thing. Many people have asked if this is a drawing of George and it is not as you can see in the title. I was originally going to do cartoon character designs genderswap style for my portfolio. Then later on Decided to do semi realistic version of this drawing people I know for the rest of my portfolio.

“Hanging Out With the Stars”

Size: 12”12”

Medium: acrylic paint, glitter and stickers

$200

This painting is of my best friend Andrea Whipple. She loves the outdoors and exploring shoeless so I showed her doing so. She also can read the stars and knows a ton of constellations and where to find them so I drew her surrounded by cute star stickers. She is a writer and makes amazing stories so I depicted her in a fantasy setting where she is floating. Pretty spiffy if you ask me.

“Beheaded”

Size:2224x1668px

Medium: digital

$30

This piece has nothing do do with my portfolios theme but I wanted it to be in the art show. I drew this sort of character design of a girl that has staples on her neck to keep her head on. I gave her a green complexion to make her look somewhat like frankenstein. Pretty spooky if you ask me.

“Realization”

Size:2224x1668px

Medium: digital

$30

This piece doesn't follow the theme of my portfolio but is a piece I wanted to post in the art show.

I've been practicing character drawings and made a illustration of girl chilling. She could be thinking about something, or maybe feels guilt.

Honesty it could be seen as anything. I just really like how I was able to give this piece a sense of lighting even tho the background is blank.

“Olympus Ap Art Show”

Size:11”17”

Medium: digital

This year I made the ap art show poster! I chose to make the poster god and goddess themed. I drew all the students gathered around Mr.Petersen (zeus) in his fancy throne. With a beautiful view of fluffy purple and yellow clouds behind the class.
